

Mammography Associate Apprenticeship
Expression of Interest form

The Mammography Associate Apprenticeship programme delivered in collaboration between Royal Free London NHS Foundation Trust and the Jarvis Breast Screening Education Department, InHealth Group is now welcoming applicants onto the next programme.

Before you can be admitted onto an apprenticeship programme you will need approval from your Apprenticeship Lead that levy funding is in place to pay for the programme. There will also be internal application processes at your Trust that your Apprenticeship Lead will be able to inform you about.

If you require details about who your Apprenticeship Lead is, or if you work at a Community based setting and not a Trust then please contact us for more information.

The entry requirements for the apprenticeship programme are:

- You must be legally allowed to work the UK, and have lived here for the last three years
- You must be employed in Breast Screening Units or symptomatic units and work at least 30 hours per week (if less than 30 hours per week, course duration will be extended)
- You must hold and be able to evidence GCSEs in English and maths (or their equivalences). If you don't have these qualifications, then it is possible to gain the Functional Skills Level 2 during the programme providing your level of English and maths is at a high enough level
- You must have approval from your Trust's Apprenticeship Lead that your apprenticeship will be funded through the Trust's Apprenticeship Levy
- You must have a work-based mentor to support your development and assess your work
